Wingate means many things to different people. To some, it is a mere stop-over before going on to greener pastures. To others, it may be just a good college that offers a basic education . . . but to most students, Wingate is a place to live and grow . . . it is a way of life.

Whatever the individual's outlook on college life, there is a place for him at Wingate. After the rush of settling down, he becomes familiar with the various organizations . . . becomes active in some, gradually realizing that he is an integral part of a whole . . . whether during the participation in class activities or amid the laughter and cheers at an athletic or social event.

For some, leadership and recognition follow . . . but whether he becomes the greatest of leaders or the best of followers, he becomes aware of a specific goal . . . learning for the future and striving for success.

A favorite gathering place is the fountain, located on back-campus. Students welcome the quiet solitude and picturesque beauty amid surrounding trees.

Mr. Jarrel and Mr. Brower look on as a visiting professor admires one of the new occupational-therapy books in the library.

Students always find Dr. Smith to be a willing listener, a competent advisor, and a tireless friend . . . for he frequently takes time from a busy schedule to assist them with their problems.

Willingness to serve has resulted in LEADERSHIP . . .

Mr. Faulkenberry, instructor of physical education, Mr. Hobbs, pastor, and Dr. Tucker, director of religious activities, discuss Wingate's athletic progress.

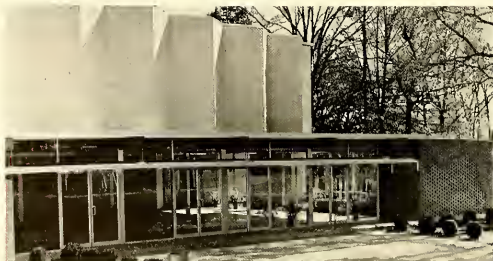

Miss Edwards, typing instructor, points out the various requirements for improving speed, accuracy, and posture.

Eva Walters, caught unexpectedly by the cameraman, seems to add just the right touch to captivate that familiar feeling of tranquility on campus at dusk.

Shining in all its modern architectural glory is the beautiful Austin-Webb Auditorium, one of our newest campus buildings.

Devotedness to our college

Aerial view of McIntyre Student Center, swimming pool, and the Sanders-Sykes Gymnasium reveals three of the most popular campus areas for leisure hours.

Fallen snow adds beauty and serenity to the Wingate campus.

Devotion is such a powerful word. The devotion found at Wingate might be termed one that causes results.

Loyalty, synonymous with devotion, is brought to the surface of an individual's character when he encounters a person or idea in which he truly believes. Wingate College stands for Christian beliefs . . . for all that is right and good in this confused world of today. Certainly it is not surprising that current students of Wingate and all her Alumni have grown to love and appreciate the college . . . for is it not only natural that we should be loyal to a representative of our basic beliefs?

s grown into a feeling of loyalty . . . appreciation . . . and PRIDE

The thickly wooded area of "back-campus" . . . dramatic shadows as sunlight filters through . . . and distant, strolling students complete this memorable picture.

The McIntyre Student Center provides adequate space and pleasant atmosphere for students to gather and socialize.

One of the lyceum programs included this captivating scene from Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream," given by the University Players.

Masque and Wig presented the following students in a three act play, "The Barretts of Wimpole Street": Ted Harris, Harry Gamble, Joyce Bivens, Jeff Fisher, Larry Sicheloff, Sylvia Hancock, and Clyde Carrigen.

Creative participation has brought about individual SATISFACTION

Reginald Gaddy seems especially interested in the final result of a zoology project as Durwood Beckham dissects a specimen.

The Rondoliers Trio was one of the regularly scheduled monthly lyceum programs.

The auditorium packed to capacity by an applauding crowd . . . o pot on the back by o sponsor or friend . . . on A-plus on on occurete, original project . . . on office duty, well done and on time . . . on effective bulletin board . . . victorious cheers at o ball game . . . oll of these ond many more experiences in our doily lives provide a feeling of accomplishment ond satisfoction.

A feeling, thus goined, becomes o port of life . . . not easily forgotten . . . for the desire to give of one's self for the good of both the college ond the community urges men ond women on to jobs well done . . . and to new satisfactions.

Daily experiences remind us that we are growing . . . not only in scientific knowledge and physical strength . . . but in strength of character . . . in wisdom . . . and in a deeper understanding of ourselves and our fellow students.

. . . The roll check at chapel . . . the unity of student voices lifted in praise and adoration . . . the Scripture texts printed above classroom blackboards . . . the B. S. U. . . . Sunday School . . . Y. W. A. . . . Training Union . . . the sympathetic understanding of teachers who see the potential of a student and not just his shortcomings . . . these, and many more, evidence the fact that Wingate is deeply concerned with the spiritual and moral development of its students.

The social and religious influence of Wingate has molded our

This influence is not confined to the brief two years that young men and women spend here . . . rather it is a lighthouse . . . a beginning, pointing everlastingly to a life of noble Christian character.

Whether we win or lose the game, a spirit of good sportsmanship and fair play is stressed at Wingate.

Dining together provides opportunity for friendly companionship and Christian fellowship.

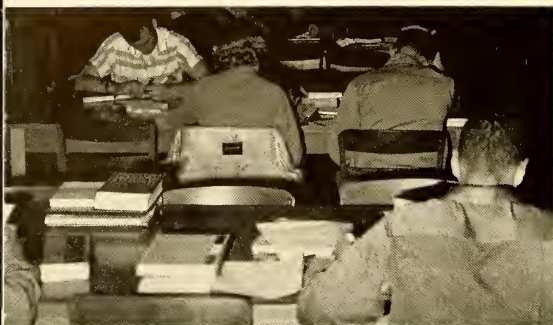

Dr. Smith crowns the 1961 Homecoming Queen, Nell Bruorton, as the court and escorts look on.

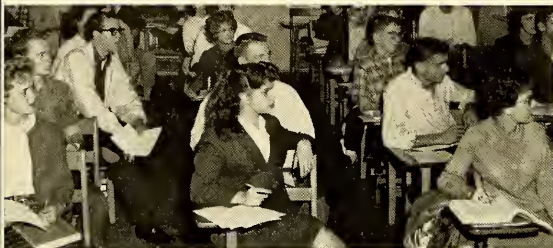

May Day, stressing character as well as beauty, is an annual celebration at Wingate.

The college library provides a quiet and peaceful atmosphere for research and study.

History students observe closely as their instructor points out places of interest on the world map.

Studious browsing among the classics in the library . . . eager expressions on the faces of individuals as they record the information given by an instructor . . . the turning of a project into a special interest or spare-time pursuit . . . the flow of students' questions in class to probe into a subject fully . . . and the conscientious effort to really understand a lab project . . . these facts indicate that Wingate students are eagerly searching for truth.

Knowledge is gained in minutes and days . . . but truth is the quest of a lifetime. The spirit of Wingate urges the quest for truth which brings knowledge.

Our quest for truth has brought

S KNOWLEDGE . . .

Biology students spend many laborous hours in the well-equipped lab. Daily assignments may include such interesting projects as the dissecting of a grasshopper, earthworm, or other insect.

Becky Wentz and Nida McGehee rehearse for the drama production, "Barretts of Wimpole Street," directed by Miss Sue Yarbrough.

One always has time to discuss the latest campus news during mealtimes in the cafeteria.

Mrs. Graffe, dietitian, supervises as Warren Hartman and Phyllis Williams serve students another well-balanced meal.

Faculty members, Mr. Jarrell and Mr. Haskins, assist Miss Brunson by painting her apartment in preparation for her marriage to Mr. Coleman. Mrs. Jarrell offers refreshments to the weary, hard-working team.

Sports . . . relaxation . . . laughter . . .

Linda Williamson enjoys a relaxing swim in the campus pool which is located adjacent to the Student Center.

Durwood Beckham is typical of many of the students who enjoy spending leisure hours on one of the campus tennis courts.

Johnny Gaddy "chalks up" more points for Wingate in an exciting intramural basketball game.

Between classes, students discuss daily interests during their stroll from the library to the Burris Classroom Building.

Jerry Thompson has the distinction of being the most sought-after and popular individual on campus . . . for it is he who sorts and distributes the mail!

Competitive sports . . . Christian fellowship . . . and planned entertainment serve to provide Wingate students with a well-rounded distribution of work and play. The thrilling cheers as another player scores for Wingate . . . a sudden burst of laughter among friends . . . a gleam in the eyes of one whose heart "sings" with happiness . . . lighthearted moments of leisure . . . adding special endearment to our memories of Wingate.

in . . . important LEISURE hours complete our life at Wingate!

Football, one of Wingate's most exciting sports, provides hours of competitive enjoyment for the entire student body.

After classes, students hurriedly scatter in various directions . . . each seeking his own particular interest for the day.

President of Wingate College

Administrative GUIDANCE

Wingate's top administrator is more than a smoothly functioning machine . . . more than an office or an organization . . . he is the person and friend who has helped us grow and who has actively been a part of our experiences. Tremendous enthusiasm, integrity, and faith characterize our President, Dr. Budd E. Smith. He has been able to see great promise for the college and his faith has been rewarded. Faced with an extremely busy schedule, he never loses sight of the individual student or teacher. Since 1953 he has been a great force in improving our college. His energetic leadership continues to be invaluable to Wingate College.

Dr. Smith approves a letter which has been typed by his capable secretary, Miss Etta Faye East.

Mrs. Florence Garrett, college receptionist and switchboard operator, handles numerous calls and inquiries in a friendly cooperative manner.

Dr. Smith's love for flowers is evidenced by his patient and continued interest in beautifying the campus.

A Message to the Students of 1961-62

Thank you so very much for your wonderful spirit and interest in the affairs of our college. You have become a part of Wingate College, and every individual on the staff and faculty of Wingate has become a part of you. You have shown your interest in others, and this is an attribute of genuine men and women. You have shown your interest in your personal development which will become more and more vital in the life that you live through the years ahead. You have seen new physical facilities being added to the campus, and in the next few years additional facilities will be available to serve young people. This improvement is, in great measure, due to your sincerity in and understanding of the total program of Wingate today.

Wingate has given you an opportunity to begin your higher education, and we are sure that you will never forget the many joyous experiences of yours during these years. All of us are aware that when we are willing to invest in young people, we are investing in eternity.

With heartfelt love and concern for each of you.

Retired

Dr. C. C. Burris, President Emeritus of Wingote College, continues to dedicate himself to the college and to the community. Under his leadership, Wingote College grew stronger. The example of Dr. Burris' life of scholarship and service shows us how we may use our intellect and character for the good of all with whom we come in contact. And we may hope that in our service we will have Dr. Burris' gracious and loving manner in dealing with others.

Behind the scenes of our daily lives is a vitally essential person whom the College staff would like to salute. In appreciation for the consolations and the reprimands—for the ever present unobserved guidance—the core and the interest—the willingness to give and the determination to instill in us a feeling of responsibility—for the part he plays in our lives at Wingote College, we acknowledge our gentle, loving but firm Academic Dean, Sidney G. Chappell.

DEDICATION

Dr. Smith . . . one whose energetic leadership continues to be invaluable to Wingate College.

Observing his actions and words, we are influenced and inspired by Dr. Smith's wholehearted love for Wingate College . . . his loyalty through serving as our president and as a vital member of many other organizations . . . his leadership in beautifying the campus . . . his numerous activities and friendships, to each of which he gives a real part of himself.

Perhaps above all else, Dr. Smith's many friends are influenced by his zest, honesty, sincerity, and profound understanding and interest in each individual. His strength in defending and fighting for those things he believes to be right, and his faith and trust in those things eternal are living memories which shall always exist.

For these reasons, and for many, many more which words are powerless to express fully, we, the GATE staff of 1962, will always be grateful. Therefore, it is in tribute to you, Dr. Budd Elmon Smith, that we dedicate this, the 1962 edition of THE GATE.

Work . . . recreation . . . fellowship . . .
major activities of the Wingate student.
Failures and triumphs prepare one to accept the defeats and successes of tomorrow.

He learns to make his mistakes in a ball game . . .
stepping-stones to the next victory.

A poor grade on a theme can give him determination to organize and express his thoughts more carefully.

He grows up a little . . .
when he loses his best girl . . .
or when he is not tapped into an honorary club.

In the classroom and on campus . . .
Wingate molds our lives.

LIFE...

THE SOPHOMORE CLASS

Old acquaintances are renewed and new friendships are made . . . dignified Sophomores return in September to Wingate . . . Last year's memories are pushed aside . . . Newness wears off as the leaves turn gold and fall . . . There are many friendly walks with "her" to the Rec and warm afternoons spent at the fountain . . . Thanksgiving holidays are over so soon and once more you are in the old routine . . . Concerts, lectures, and drama productions by the Masque and Wig bring variety to student life and stimulate cultural interests . . . English literature becomes very engrossing and you find yourself living in the library that hectic week before term papers are due . . . and then the glorious relief of Christmas vacation . . . In January the semester ends with exams and Spring semester begins . . . You promise not to get behind this semester

. . . Reading that special letter as you return from the campus post office while someone mourns, "My letter didn't come!" . . . The weeks came and go swiftly . . . The GATE arrives and everyone wants his GATE autographed . . . "I wish we would get to use the new science building" and "Where are you going to transfer?" only bring the year nearer to a close. Then final exams and practice for graduation . . . You believe that you're going to miss standing in line at the cafeteria . . . admiring the daffodils and tulips at the auditorium . . . eating a hamburger at the Rec . . . meeting your classmates in the halls . . . chapel at eleven o'clock . . . A stubborn lump comes to your throat as you march for the last time down the aisle of graduation . . . You are sent away with a diploma, a handshake, and a Bible . . . final tokens of the spirit of Wingate.

William Wallace gets "in shape" for his intramural competition.

Iris Garcia attends one of the lyceum programs which are sponsored monthly.

Mr. Traynham seems to be engaged in a deep thought.

Mrs. Willis informs Larry Barker that his room is clean today.

Rev. Joseph Hough, one of our favorite chapel speakers this year, looks on as Dr. Tucker leads the audience in singing the Alma Mater.

Marvin Wolpert and Chuck Spain find the "Rec" a favorite spot to spend leisure time.

Dr. Smith and Mrs. Gaddy are shown at the Faculty picnic.

Students spend much time in the library both reading periodicals and doing research.

The fountain in front of the student center is always a popular spot for social gathering.

THE FRESHMAN CLASS

Hustle and bustle of a new experience . . . new friends and classmates . . . an entirely new atmosphere . . . suddenly—that old homesick feeling . . . the “slight” confusion of registration day . . . “My goodness, I have two 8:00 o’clock classes on the same day!” . . . all the 10:00 o’clock classes filled . . . the first advisory meeting . . . the “da’s” and the “don’t’s” . . . homework, almost more than it seems possible to do . . . learning to study . . . the notebooks due Friday . . . the homecoming football game . . . “Boy, isn’t Jane cute?” . . . “That English theme is not completed” . . . “Who is Achilles and where is Troy?” . . . class elections . . . learning the words to the Alma Mater . . . eagerly and “voluntarily” attending the chapel programs . . . gaining a new inspiration from each speaker . . . basketball games filled with thrills and excitement . . . Thanksgiving holidays . . . the week before Christmas . . . the long awaited season finally arrives . . . the new year resolution to not get behind . . . lost minute tests . . . “What do the teachers do, get together and decide to give tests?” . . . concerts . . . then exams . . . “What if I fail?” . . . tension . . . tension . . . The new semester begins . . . the cycle repeats itself but this time it goes somewhat smoother . . . the sorrows are intermingled with the joys . . . the work is interwoven with play . . . lasting memories of this year . . . exams . . . packing and final goodbye’s to be said . . . the freshman year is one to cherish, to love, and to fondly remember as it comes to a close, and we turn our hearts with anxious anticipation to face the new.

Dr. Hendricks entertains the faculty children at a Christmas Party.

John Gillis, Becky Wentz and Nida McGehee portray Robert Browning, Elizabeth Barrett, and Bella Hedley in the Masque and Wig production, "The Barretts of Wimpole Street."

Mr. Ables, the night watchman, efficiently executes his duties.

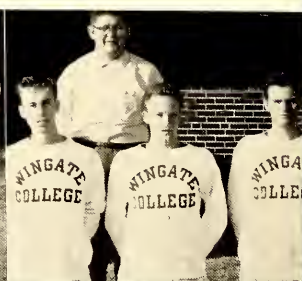

Ethel, a cafeteria cook, prepares turkey for our Thanksgiving dinner.

Glenn Oakes strikes an unusual pose in front of the gymnasium.

Glenda Lee leads the cheerleaders in practicing for the big game.

Charles Kelly and a group of students stroll across the walk on the back campus.

Bill Stevenson, Clarence Pope and Charles Mathis have made great progress in track under Mr. Thomas Faulkenberry's leadership.

Look at John Miller's expression as he reads over the shoulder of Charles Edwards.

Ernestine Brown is waiting for the other cheerleaders to arrive.

ORGANIZATI

The organizations on our campus are an integral part of our life . . .

Through the different clubs,
we express our interests and talents . . .

Is your talent teaching?
If so, the Future Teachers of America is the right club . . .

Do you have a flair for singing?
Then you belong in the College Choir . . .

Whatever your interest . . .
there is sure to be a club that was organized with this interest in mind.

ONS...

Norman Chambers, Vice-President; Linda Wright, Secretary-Treasurer; Ray Pennell, President.

The Student Government, working for the benefit of every student, is a vital part of the complete college environment. The Student Government analyzes student needs and acts as a channel through which solutions to various problems may be brought about. Through its programs and activities, it promotes the welfare of the student body and acts as a link between the administration and students.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

iams, Michael Wrape, Mr. Ralph Williams, Norman Chambers, Linda Wright, Ray Pennell.

John Gillis, Bob Hamilton, Warren Hartman, Ray Pennell, Linda Wright, Norman Chambers, Mr. Ralph Williams

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

Mr. Ralph C. Williams
Faculty Advisor to Student Government

One purpose of the Student Government is to inspire pride in the college and promote school loyalty

Composed of representatives of the student body, the Executive Council serves for the protection and the welfare of the student. Upon entering Wingate, each student promises to uphold the honor code which the Council endeavors to support. When the honor code is violated, the Executive Council must investigate and take necessary action. Each case is fairly and thoroughly examined before a decision is reached. Each decision must be approved by the faculty advisor and the Administration.

SUNDAY SCHOOL OFFICERS

Gigi Garcia, President; Wanda Presson, Secretary; Glenn Davenport, Vice-President; Carol Jones, Music Leader; Evelyn Nichols, Assistant Secretary; Vivian Richardson, Music Leader.

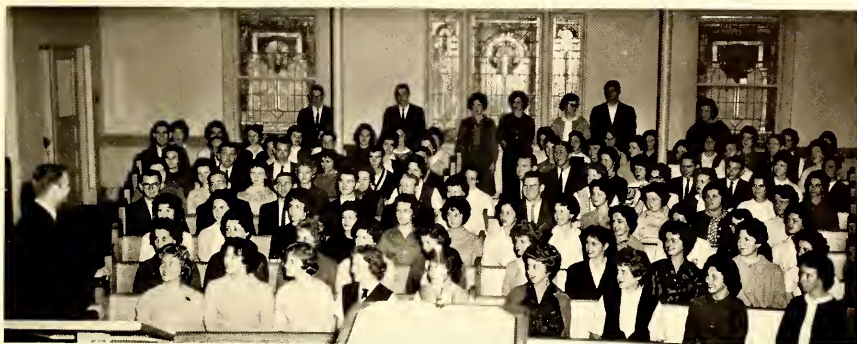

The B.S.U. Executive Council is the guiding body for the Baptist Student Union. The Council endeavors by its program and ideals to lead the students into closer fellowship with God and to strengthen spiritual ties among the students.

BAPTIST STUDENT UNION

The Baptist Student Union is the "hub" of all the religious organizations on campus, for it is the official link between the student and the church. To be eligible for membership, a student must be a member of the Wingate Baptist Church or any religious body on campus. The religious organizations include Sunday School, Training Union, Ministerial Association, and Y.W.A. The activities of the Baptist Student Union include a B.S.U. Chair, a B.S.U. bulletin board, Morning Watch, Focus Week, and Vespers. Through these projects the entire student body is made aware of the ideals of the Baptist Student Union and is better acquainted with the Christian atmosphere of Wingate.

THE 1962 GATE STAFF

Seated: Larry Loftis, Betty Ross, Martha Ross, John Gillis, Myra Starnes.

Standing: Betty Benson, Elizabeth Silance, Meredith Osborne, Jerry Thompson, Lilly Williams, Hendry Funderburk, Diane Funderburk.

Certainly no college would be complete without a yearbook, and Wingate is no exception. It would be disappointing not to have some material reminder of our days at Wingate, but the GATE fills that order nicely.

By constantly striving to make the GATE bigger, better, and more interesting than the previous issue, the staff this year has achieved a book that we feel will make the students proud. We hope that you will enjoy each page of it as much as we have enjoyed the work and the fun that went into the book.

The editor and staff of the 1962 GATE would like to express their gratitude to all of those who have helped make this year's book possible. With the deepest sincerity, we thank you.

Seated: Martha Ross, Editor.
Standing: Betty Ross, Copy Editor; Ralph C. Williams, Faculty Advisor;

PHI RHO PI

PHI RHO PI is a National Junior College Forensic Society pertaining to debates and other public speaking. In order for a student to belong to this organization, he must participate in debating, after-dinner speaking, impromptu speaking and extemporaneous. This experience enables the student to be more confident and relaxed when speaking before an audience. It also prepares him for future social and civic obligations.

YOUNG WOMEN'S AUXILIARY

Certainly one of the outstanding organizations that contributes toward the spiritual development of the young women of Wingate is the Young Women's Auxiliary. This organization, which meets bi-monthly, unites young women with a common purpose to further interest in the power of missions. They strive to witness for Christ by fostering the advancement of worthy organizations that seek to minister to the physical and spiritual needs of others.

The Mathematics Club, organized in 1956, is made up of students who are interested in mathematics. The aim of the club is to help students gain a better appreciation of math and its varied applications. Meetings are held once a month. Every student is welcomed to join this club.

MATH CLUB

CHURCH RELATED VOCATIONS

The Church Related Vacations group is an organization especially for the students who plan to enter some type of vocation that is directly related to the church.

This organization is instrumental in helping the students gain necessary experiences in Christian service that will be beneficial throughout their lives. They meet and work together to discuss their vocational problems and to better understand what will be expected of them as they begin to find their places in Christian ministry.

A youthful but vital part of the student's life, the Masque and Wig Club provides varied creative outlets for every interested student. From tryouts to production, the theater involves both the work and the artistic ingenuity of many people.

The year's productions have been THE BARRETT'S OF WIMPOLE STREET, a collection of three one-act plays, and FATHER OF THE BRIDE.

Sue Yarbraugh and Ralph Williams have been instrumental in continuing the rapid growth this department has made.

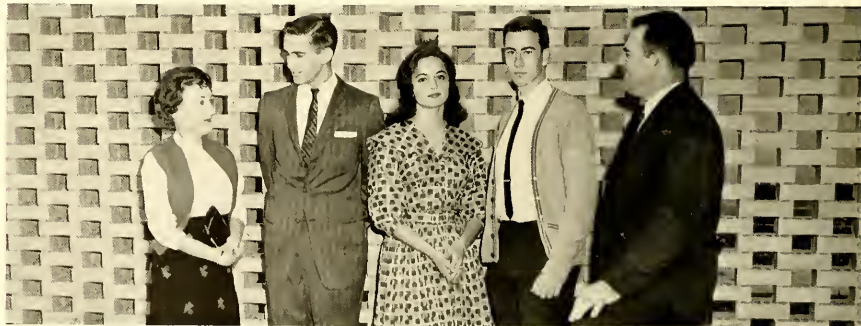

MASQUE AND WIG

DELTA PSI OMEGA

Outstanding members of Masque and Wig are honored yearly by being invited to join Delta Psi Omega. Membership requirements are rigid, and prospective members must have quite an impressive list of performances or behind-stage work to be considered. National Delta Psi Omega was organized in 1929 to provide a wider fellowship for those interested in the college theatre, and our local chapter works closely with the national fraternity.

The "W" Club is composed of those boys who are outstanding in athletics and have lettered in major sports of Wingote. This group published a student directory, sponsored a student-faculty basketball game, and promoted greater school spirit in the total athletic program of Wingote.

"W" CLUB

WOMAN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The W.A.A. has as its members those coeds who enjoy participating in a variety of sports. The main seasonal sports are volleyball in the fall, basketball in the winter, and tennis in the spring. Golf, bicycle riding, swimming, softball, and rhythms are offered during the year.

The purpose of the Woman's Athletic Association is to stimulate interest in a program of wholesome physical activities, to promote recreational participation and accomplishment, and to contribute to the development of the ideals of health and sportsmanship.

The Debate Squad is one of the most active organizations on the Wingate campus. The debaters participate in many debate tournaments in the country against competition from the larger universities. Many long hours of preparation are needed before a meeting, and it is not unusual for the team to bring home top honors. Wingate is very proud of this fine group and the able coach, Mr. Joel C. Herren.

DEBATE SQUAD

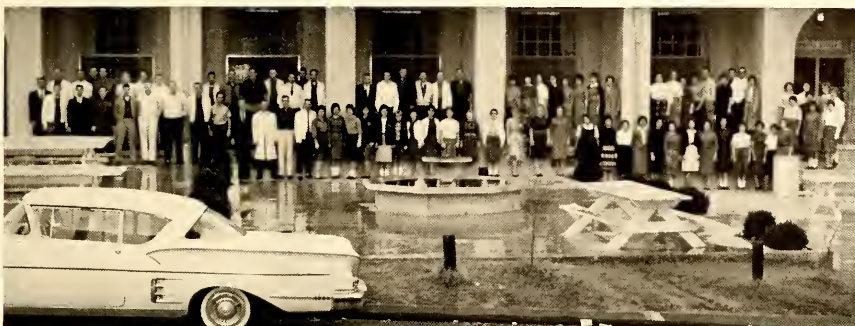

INTERNATIONAL CLUB

Students on the Wingate Campus from foreign countries have formed the International Club to participate in discussions and lectures aimed at better understanding the American way of life.

Mrs. Ruth Horton, faculty advisor to the club, organizes regular meetings and suggests programs that will be of benefit to all members.

David Tin Cheung, Helen Sturgis, Larry Tin Cheung, Mrs. Horton, Advisor; James Foo, Iris Garcia, Yoknam Kow, Virginia Perry.

Making up a very integral part of the student body is the Drive-In Club. This club, composed of the commuting students, is organized for the purpose of giving each person a real sense of belonging. Another benefit is the fellowship enjoyed by each member as the club meets on campus.

The officers of the club are as follows: President, Joyce Bivens; Vice-President, Jahnnie Tarlton; Secretary, Brenda Cunningham.

DRIVE-IN CLUB

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

Already a service organization, the Future Teachers of America strive to prepare themselves to serve even more efficiently in the future. This group is bonded together to concentrate on equipping themselves to become the leaders in the educational field of tomorrow.

LIBRARY CLUB

Assisting in library work of all types is the Library Club of Wingate. These students, many of whom hold scholarships, are invaluable to the school with the services they perform. Directed by Mrs.

Ethel K. Smith, the staff is always ready to lend a helping hand wherever needed. The GATE staff salutes our fine Library Club . . . Keep up the good work!

SPORTSMAN

A well-rounded sports program lends color to scholastic life at Wingate . . .

When the trees on campus
come ablaze,
hearts rise with the football spirit . . .

Next comes the excitement of basketball, for nothing can match the exhilaration of a close game . . .

Of course, with spring,
each man's fancy
turns to baseball and track . . .

Thus the year is complete with a program designed to build bodies . . .
as well as minds.

Sportsmanship is an architect of both!

BASEBALL

The Wingate nine, under the direction of Coach Dan Quinn, completed their 1960 baseball season very successfully.

As this annual goes to press, baseball season is still to be; however, we know that this year, as in the past years, our team will not let us down.

Joe Wright, Mike Carroll, Harry Petrey, Bill Ivey, Bill Mayer, Mackey McLeod, David Sides, Doug Kinney, Jimmy Erwin, James Brower, Coach.

Although tennis has only been stressed recently at Wingate, the tennis team is very enthusiastic. Last year's record, established by Norman Chambers and Charlie Burns, is one that will not soon be forgotten.

Under the direction of Mr. James Brower, the team shows promise of another year of good conference competition.

Under the able guidance of Coach Thomas Faulkenberry, Wingate's track team compiled an impressive record by placing first in the conference. Led by Benny Rushing, the team showed vast improvement over the 1960 season.

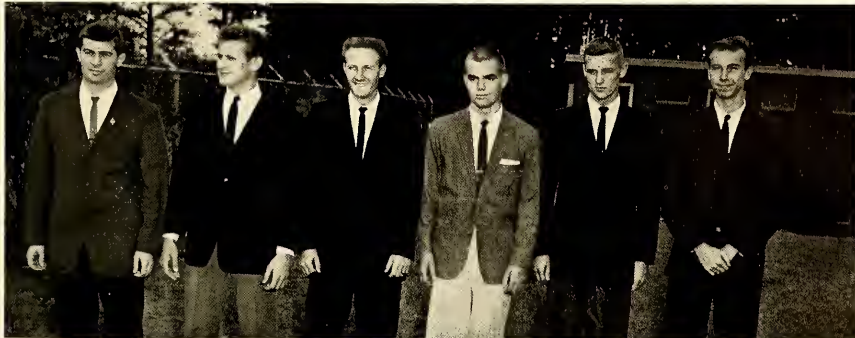

In the Conference Meet, Wingate's Benny Rushing won first place in the hundred yard dash while Bruce Richbourg won first place in the high and low hurdles.

ACHIEVEMENT

The crisp autumn breezes that scatter dry leaves across the campus lawn are filled with the excited cheers of generations of Wingate students . . .

It's the homecoming game and interest mounts as the time draws near to present the homecoming court . . .

Spring comes and now the breezes sweep over a green campus . . .
and whisper of the beauty of the May Queen and her court,
who are presented at the traditional May Day program.

This section is to recognize Wingate students who have made outstanding achievements in extracurricular and academic activities.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The 1962 GATE Staff wishes to express its deep appreciation to the Administration and Faculty for their splendid cooperation and understanding throughout the year.

Without the assistance of others this publication would have been indeed difficult. We wish to express our gratitude to the following:

Mrs. Marjorie Bartlett of Bartlett Associates, Charlotte, N. C. Mrs. Bartlett evidenced a personal concern in our book as she advised us and helped us with the layout, copy, and photography. Her experience and good taste have been invaluable to the success of this publication. For her time, excellent supervision, and patient assistance, we are indeed grateful.

Mr. Ralph Williams, our dedicated advisor, has given generously of his abilities and his time in guiding and working with the GATE Staff. In addition, he has handled such matters as scheduling photography and meeting our deadline. We sincerely appreciate his potent supervision, his friendliness, and his deep interest.

YEARBOOK CRAFTSMEN

The building of a superior yearbook requires the closest cooperation on the part of the staff, the photographer, the engraver and the printer.

Our associates and many years of experience enable us to render a complete service.

If you wish to produce a distinctive yearbook, let us help you.

Our service will minimize your problems.
